CILT The National Centre for Languages Information Sheet

Training to teach languages in secondary education

Info 9 • January 2008

INTRODUCTION

This information sheet lists the UK institutions offering initial teacher training courses in modern foreign languages. It includes universities and colleges of higher education as well as schools and other institutions. It gives contact details for initial teacher training courses in Modern Foreign Languages and information about combinations of languages offered. We have also included, where possible, the appropriate web address of the institution or institution's department offering the course/s. As these links can often change, we welcome your feedback regarding their validity.

The Training and Development Agency for Schools (TDA) has produced a free guide, entitled Get into teaching. It is available from the TDA Communication Centre. It contains background information about teaching in the UK, information on different routes into teaching, career development and short case studies. CILT and the TDA have produced a leaflet entitled Qualify to teach your language in England, aimed primarily at Foreign Language Assistants. Hard copies are available from CILT.

Most of the institutions listed on this sheet offer Postgraduate Certificate in Education (PGCE) courses; many are developing different formats to attract a wider range of trainees into the profession. All courses lead to Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) unless otherwise stated.

ROUTES TO QUALIFIED TEACHER STATUS (QTS)

The PGCE course (Post Graduate Certificate of Education)
The PGCE is the most common route to QTS. During this one-year course, you spend 12 weeks at a university or other higher education institution and 24 weeks on teaching placements in two different schools. In some institutions PGCEs may be studied part-time or by distance learning. Increased flexibility is offered by new modular PGCE courses being introduced by some institutions. These courses may be able to accredit prior teaching experience provided it is appropriate. For more information on the Scottish equivalent PGDE course (Professional Graduate Diploma of Education) please visit www.teachinginscotland.com.

Teach First
This is a demanding, business-led, two-year programme placing top graduates in challenging secondary schools in Greater London, Greater Manchester and the Midlands. For more information go to http://www.teachfirst.org.uk/

SCITT schemes (School-Centred Initial Teacher Training)
These programmes are designed and delivered by schools in partnership with higher education institutions and local education authorities. They lead to QTS and many offer the opportunity to obtain the PGCE qualification.

Graduate Teacher Programme (GTP)
This is an employment-based route to QTS, usually lasting one year, where 'on-the-job' training is combined with professional duties in the school. The GTP is for graduate trainees (over 24 years of age in some cases) who have the maturity and relevant experience to cope with an important teaching load as well as their training. GTP Trainees receive a monthly salary usually based on the unqualified teachers' scale, depending on the amount of teaching they are undertaking (Level 1 salary scale for 08/09 is £15,113). For further information contact the TDA on 01245 454444 or email grtp@tdainfo.co.uk

Registered Teacher Programme (RTP)
This is a similar scheme to the GTP for non-graduates. If you have a school willing to employ you, you could undertake the RTP, a scheme for those who have successfully completed two years of higher education. The training programme leads to a degree equivalent qualification as well as QTS. The RTP usually lasts two years. For further information contact the TDA on 01245 454444 or email grtp@tdainfo.co.uk

HOW TO APPLY

PGCE/PGDE: If you wish to apply for a PGCE or PGDE course, you should contact the GTTR (Graduate Teacher Training Registry). A course search facility is available on their website and applications can be made online. Applications open in September for the following year and you are recommended to apply early to ensure a place at the institution of your choice. However, applications may be accepted at any time during the school year, provided places are still available. Two handbooks are produced annually for applicants containing further information about ITT institutions in England and Wales, to guide applicants in their choice:

- Guide for applicants, published by the GTTR.
- The Performance Profile, now published by the TDA.

Note that in Northern Ireland applications are covered by each individual institution and the Open University has its own direct application procedure. Otherwise, application is through the GTTR. In Scotland, courses at the University of Paisley must be applied for directly.

Teach First: Applications for Teach First are only accepted through the online form at http://www.teachfirst.org.uk/.

SCITT: You can apply to most SCITT partnerships through the GTTR, although some have their own application procedure and you need to contact them directly. A list of local SCITT providers is available from the TDA and they are also all listed on the GTTR website (see details for PGCE above). Application dates vary from provider to provider.

GTP/ RTP: If you have teaching experience already, you may be suitable for the GTP/RTP. In England, GTP and RTP places are dealt with regionally by local Designated Recommended Bodies (DRBs). The TDA can provide a list of the contact details and services provided by the regional DRBs. You may need to find a school willing to employ you as an unqualified teacher – some DRBs may be able to help you with this.

Note that applications for undergraduate courses (BEd or BA with QTS) are made through UCAS (Universities and Colleges Admissions Service).

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

Training bursaries and salaries for postgraduate teaching trainees

- PGCE and SCITT students in England will receive a training bursary of £9,000, for home and EU students (and others who have been resident in the UK for 3 years or longer); In Wales there is a training grant of £7,200 available for students on secondary PGCE courses in Modern Languages
- in subjects where there are shortages - such as modern foreign languages - the training bursary or salary is topped up with a £2,500 'Golden Hello' paid upon successful completion of their induction year, provided this is in a maintained school in England. It should be noted however, that a trainee commencing their course in Autumn 2008 cannot expect to receive the £2,500 (taxable) until September 2010. The 'Golden Hello' does not apply to those qualifying through the GTP or RTP;
- Teach First trainees get a training salary from their school and additional support is available from Teach First
- trainees on the Graduate Teacher Programme, aimed at mature students, will receive a salary at the unqualified teacher rate of at least £15,113 (taxable).

Tuition fees

England: From September 2008, ITT providers in England can charge trainee teachers on postgraduate ITT courses tuition fees of up to £3,145 a year. If you live in England, you can apply to your LEA for a non-means tested grant of £1,260 and to apply for an additional means-tested grant of £1,575. Institutions charging the full £3,145 should provide a bursary for the extra £310 for trainees in receipt of the full £2,835 grant. For further details of financial help available please see http://www.dfes.gov.uk/studentsupport/ or http://www.direct.gov.uk (including for students from other EU countries).

Wales: From September 2008 there is a flexible tuition fee of up to £3,145 a year in Wales. If you are a resident of Wales you can apply for a non-means tested grant of up to £1,890. Further details of financial support available in Wales can be found at http://www.studentfinancewales.co.uk or http://www.cyllidmyfyrwyrcymru.co.uk (Welsh version)

Scotland: Tuition fees in Scotland for PGDE courses that lead to QTS are generally paid for by the Student Awards Agency for Scotland (SAAS). For more information go to http://www.student-support-saas.gov.uk/

Northern Ireland: The tuition fee arrangements for ITT providers in Northern Ireland are the same as in England (see above).

The Student Loan Company allows you to take out loans to cover tuition fees. You will not have to repay any tuition fees until you have completed your ITT course and you have obtained a position with a salary of more than £15,000 a year.
